Your efforts and perseverance yielded a fantastic portfolio. I clicked on the first two and enlarged them and it was a primo experience. I can hardly wait to begin. I am not sure if I am going to do abstracts on some or all and how many I am going to print. I need to go out and buy ink cartridges today.

Very stunning achievement. :-O :-D

Thank you very, very much!!!!!!!

“Dear Lynne

We were delighted to get your report in the post yesterday and have been pouring over it, fascinating. On the XXX side you got so far back – poor Frederick had a rough time of it towards the end of his short life, but I feel I know him better with a lot of details filled in – also the photo.....

Our thanks once again for all your hard work.”

In 2016 Lynne solved the mystery of the origins of my London ancestor James Cochrane - he was christened in Almondsbury in 1784. She discovered his siblings, and that he was named in his uncle's 1816 will. The big surprise was that his father, William, signed the family surname 'Cockram' at his marriage, and William had a brother James who tried to contact him in 1824 for unknown reasons. New mysteries yet to be solved! Thanks to Lynne for leading this genealogical search party through the 18th and early 19th century West Country and digging up so much fascinating detail about my ancestors - especially William Cockram/Cochrane, gardener of Hadspen House and Westbury on Trym.

Hope you can put the following on your website: If you are researching your Family Tree for Gloucestershire relatives and especially the Cheltenham area I can thoroughly recommend Lynne as your researcher. She has given me great help with areas to search that I had not thought of and done that for me, sometimes without prompting from me and that has been very useful. Her knowledge is second to none and also you will find her hourly rates very reasonable. In fact some of the charges have been pro rata for the time spent: if it took 30 minutes I was charged for 30 minutes and not the full hourly rate as some do. Lynne is always happy to answer any questions no matter how trivial they might seem to me to be. In 3 months Lynne has found out more about my Cheltenham relatives than I had found in 10 years.

I just wanted to let you know that the findings at Tetbury have proved very helpful indeed.

Thank you so very much for all of your detailed hunt / efforts. We do appreciate you have been locked in dusty libraries when the weather has been tempting and beautiful!

I was particularly happy to see the criminal record of WH. My late father always maintained that a family member had been transported for sheep stealing. I thought it was one of his tall tales but now it proves he had the basis of the story correct. I feel duty bound to pass the story on to my children. The background information you included was very illuminating in rounding out the lives of my ancestors.

(My first 'official' client, who after a gap of nearly 10 years is now using my research services again to further his Somerset family history)

I am still reading the material that you sent me. I'm too excited to be able to read it all properly but have got the gist. I am absolutely thrilled, thank you! Thank you so much for the work that you have done, you have really struck gold for me! I have been too giddy to do anything remotely sensible today, I've just gone around with a silly grin on my face

Thank-you so much for your report on the McCabe and Martin Families. It is just fantastic as I would never be able to find all of that info here or over in England.

Wow - what a lot of interesting facts to read - thank you! I know all the Thomas's in Canada and the USA will be as delighted as I am to learn more about the family's history.

Many many thanks for this - a fantastic early Christmas present! I am so pleased to read what the Gloucester Journal had to say - had been sure that they must have been something.

Thank you for the report and tree! You have done an excellent job putting everything together in a concise and easy to understand way (especially considering the subject material!)..... I really appreciate all you have done and this information will be treasured for generations to come!

I will wait for the research - you are worth waiting for!

Thank you so much for your wonderful research— poor Thomas, a lost soul!

I am looking forward to sitting back and reading in detail all that you have collected.

Unfortunately family arrive this afternoon, and then it will be crazy for a week or so—but something to look forward to (reading the history, not the crazy kids).
